

Harmony donates outdoor play facility to Tshepisoong Primary School

NOVEMBER 2024

Harmony has donated an outdoor play facility to the Tshepisoong Primary School, located in the City of Johannesburg.

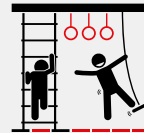

The centerpiece of this project is the Jumanta outdoor play course, a vibrant addition that will transform the school environment. This facility will serve as a powerful tool to foster experiential learning, creativity, and physical development for young learners at the school.

Why this project matters

At Harmony, we believe in creating opportunities that resonate beyond immediate needs and align with long-term development goals. Tshepisoong Primary School, a non-fee-paying institution, is devoted to the holistic growth of students. This project supports their mission by:

Stimulating social, cognitive, and physical development for Foundation Phase learners.

Enhancing the quality of outdoor education through structured play.

Aligning with the National Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statement (CAPS), which emphasises the importance of motor and gross skills development.

With the outdoor facility, learners will gain essential skills, preparing them for success both within the classroom and beyond.

Making a difference together

This initiative reflects our collaborative approach between:

1

The JHB West District Department of Education and Gauteng Department of Education.

2

Tshepiso Primary School educators and parents, who will see their children benefit immensely from this enriched learning environment.

The journey of creating this outdoor play area has been one of shared vision and purpose. By providing this facility, Harmony is not only supporting education but also fostering a culture of play-based learning that nurtures imagination, communication, and a connection to the environment.

We are incredibly proud of this achievement and the profound impact it will have on the lives of Tshepiso Primary School learners.
